Why should I read THE NEW SOCIAL WORKER?

Read it because it is the premiere career and professional development magazine for professional social workers. Read it because it provides practical articles in a conversational, easy-to-read style on social work ethics, practice specialties, and other topics of interest to social workers. Read it to learn about cutting edge issues in the profession. Read it because it's geared toward the needs of people like you—professional social workers who want to be in the know. And now, read it because you can get credit for doing so!

How do I get CE credit?

Go to <http://www.CEU4U.com> and register for the course corresponding to an issue of the magazine. Then after you have read that issue of the magazine, take the post-test and print out your CE certificate.

How much does it cost?

CEU4U.com charges $15 per credit hour, or you can purchase a discounted package of credit hours (for example, 10 hours for $142, or 45 hours for $405). Each issue of THE NEW SOCIAL WORKER provides 2 hours of continuing education credit. This charge covers the cost of registering for the course and taking the online exam. The magazine is available free in downloadable PDF format, or you can purchase selected back issues in print for $4.95 each. This is in addition to the CEU4U.com continuing education fee.
